

Kate Webster, chair of the Diversity Commission, is excited to be a member of Forest Park's first diversity commission. She moved to Forest Park from the North side of Chicago in 2012 and has loved the "big city access, small town feel" welcoming environment. She brings to the commission both academic and practical knowledge of diversity and inclusion issues and seeks to build bridges between the community and Village administration. It is her hope that the work of the commission will ensure that Forest Park remains open, inclusive, and welcoming to all individuals from all backgrounds.

(Authored by K. Webster)